Free time means playing video games or watching movies, surfing or shopping, or just hanging with friends, right?

Not for a group of kids in Honolulu, Hawaii. They used their time and resources to make a difference in their community. This time last year the Pearl Harbor Kai Kids Care Club was busy gathering stuffed animals for families of wounded troops, collecting school supplies for a family shelter, and baking after school snacks for kids in a homeless shelter. And that was just August.

The group went on to reach out to service personnel and needy people in their community through a variety of projects all year long.

Thousands of people were helped and encouraged simply because of the Kai Kids. The kids were ready, willing, and able, and they chose to make themselves available to do good.

THINK ABOUT IT

- What do you like to do with your free time?
- How do you feel when you use your time and resources to help others?

Gifts to Share

Each person is created with unique gifts to share. What are your gifts? Work with a partner and help each other determine what you both do well. Then think of ways to use your skills for God.

Do you allow yourself to be used by God? Why or why not?
